POINTE

“From my earliest days of pointe training, and through my years as a professional ballerina with ABT, the shoes that have made possible my pursuit of technical and artistic excellence have always been Capezio.”

STELLA ABRERA, PRINCIPAL DANCER, AMERICAN BALLET THEATRE

In 2018, Capezio celebrates its commitment to innovation and passion for the art form of classical ballet, with the newly designed extensive pointe shoe system. Most recently, we have introduced numerous new pointe shoe styles to enhance our pointe shoe offerings, such as the Kylee, Ava and Donatella. Our continued commitment to quality, consistency and diversity in box shapes and shank strengths benefit young dancers and professionals alike. Our cobblers, artists in their own right, are committed to the needs of the dancer – flat platforms, perfectly shaped boxes, articulated shanks, narrowed heels and pointe shoes that flatter and extend the natural leg line. We welcome all to experience the revitalised Capezio of today and hope to exceed your expectations.

THE ANATOMY OF

Two elements that inform the technical performance and best fit of a pointe shoe are the shape and strength.

The shape of a pointe shoe is determined by the last. This is the form that a shoe is made on. It determines the internal fit and shape of the pointe shoe. A different last is used for each size and width within a given style.

The strength of the pointe shoe comes from the shank – the “spine” of the shoe. Crafted from either leather board or red fibre board, the shank provides support to the arch and is located beneath the sock-lining. Capezio stock shanks range from #1 (light) to #7.5 (strong/supportive). Shanks may be “skived” (the thickness is reduced to provide flexibility) at the heel and or the ball of the foot. A dancer’s strength, technical ability and the flexibility of their arch will determine the appropriate shank required.

A | SOCK-LINING

Either suede or a plush, rose-coloured, anti-slip microfibre, the sock-lining covers the shank and bears the Capezio logo.

B | THROAT

Located at the centre-front of the satin upper, the throat is the open area of the shoe that encases the foot. Common throat shapes are round, “V” or “U”.

C | VAMP

The vamp is the centre-front of the box toe that covers the toes. It is measured from the top edge of the platform to, and including, the binding. A deep or long vamp provides greater support to the metatarsals and may help control a pronounced arch. A short or low vamp provides greater flexibility to the arch. The length of toes may dictate which vamp height is appropriate.

D | BINDING & DRAWSTRING

Made of satin or elastic, the binding finishes the raw edge of the satin upper. The drawstring, elastic or cotton cording, is encased in the binding. Either drawstring may be pulled and knotted to help the upper conform to the foot.

E | SIDE SEAM

The satin upper is comprised of the vamp and two-back-quarter sections that are joined with a side seam.

F | WINGS

Wings are an extension of the toe box and provide lateral support to the metatarsals.

G | CROWN

The crown is the depth between the drawstring knot and the internal base of the shoe (shank surface).

H | BOX

The box toe is comprised of multiple layers of natural fabrics, bonded together using Capezio’s specially formulated paste. When hardened, the toe box provides support to the forefoot (phalanges and metatarsals) which enables a dancer to stand en pointe.

I | PLATFORM

The platform is the flat end of the box toe. The platform creates a secure surface to stand en pointe. Platform shapes range from narrow to broad, high to low.

J | BACK-STRAP

The back-strap covers the heel’s external centre-back seam and adds stability to the upper. It is located vertically at the heel between the binding and the leather sole.

K | BACK QUARTERS

The two symmetrical back-quarters are joined at the side and back seams to provide shape to the heel-cup and finish the upper.

L | SOLE

Made with genuine leather, the sole is a portion of the external bottom surface of the shoe. A shortened sole length ensures that the sole does not extend past the heel when the foot is pointed. Leather soles may be scraped for greater floor traction.

M | PLEATS / NO PLEATS

The pleats are located between the sole and the platform edge, on the bottom side of the shoe. Certain styles forego traditional pleating; instead a stitched, fitted, pattern piece is used to shape the box toe on the last.

A full-page photograph of tap dancer Michelle Dorrance in a dynamic pose. She is wearing a black tank top, a dark blue jacket, maroon leggings, and black tap shoes. Her right leg is extended horizontally to the right, and her left leg is on the floor. Her arms are outstretched, and she has a joyful expression. The background is a large, bright studio with high windows and brick walls.
